Internship

Chu Hai College values the importance of providing internship opportunities to students for the preparation of their future careers. We believe that internships not only allow students to gain practical experience, but also are important for exploring their future careers, strengthening their networking, and enhancing their communication skills. Chu Hai College collaborates with numerous reputable local and overseas organisations to provide students with a wide range of internship opportunities, preparing them for their future career goals upon graduation.

Global Exchange

The College is dedicated to enabling students to broaden their horizons and build self-confidence by immersing them in different cultural and geographical environments for optimum exposure in academic pursuit and life experience. We have established links with 26 non-local universities by means of international student and professor exchange programmes.

For example:

- Nanjing University, China
- Universität Duisburg-Essen, Germany
- Kyoto Seika University, Japan
- Dankook University, Korea

Inbound exchange student

SCHLIEPHAKE
Nadja Valentina

English for Professional
Communication
Home university:
Universität Potsdam,
Germany

"I like the way how Hong Kong combines Western and Asian culture. Here you have both hyper modern architecture and culture that comes from Hong Kong being a centre of commerce. At the same time, the local culture is right beside it, which is more symbiotic...In my university, I studied English with a scholarly focus. At Chu Hai, I took Media English with a focus on media and communication which is taught by professionals from the industry. I also took Media Communication for International Affairs which is very informative...it is very interesting to study English here with a new perspective."

Outbound exchange student

CHING Yuen Ki

Architecture
Host university:
Universiteit Hasselt,
Belgium

"After studying in Belgium, I gained new perspectives on my studies and personal life. Belgians have a different way of life. They taught me how to enjoy the weekend and make better use of my time. My classmates, professors and the university staffs were very friendly and they helped me adapt to my classes and the new environment. I also took the chance to travel to Holland, France, Switzerland and Italy. It was a great experience to live in a foreign country and travel around Europe."

Never a dull moment

Life as a student at Chu Hai is as enriching and educational as you could wish, with many activities throughout the term to give you access to many fascinating topics and experts to help expand your mind. These activities include career talks, volunteering, cultural exchanges and guest speaker series covering a broad range of topics which can enhance your understanding of the world and prove valuable to your future career plans.
