

Message from Vice President (Academic)

Together, we are going through an unusual year in which the pandemic turns the world upside down. We face challenges, and are more conscious on the crucial and proactive role that the academics and research can take.

The College devotes itself to the advancement of human knowledge through excellence in research and application. While the College subscribes to the four forms of scholarship: discovery, application, integration and transmission, we see our bigger role to play by working in partnership with the community in the furtherance of education, research and knowledge, and contributing to the betterment of humankind.

In this issue of Research Newsletter, we present a research story of the interdisciplinary cooperation of our civil engineering and medical colleagues to combat the outbreak of novel coronavirus in a URA commissioned project. We also give an update on the latest research progress of our colleagues, teams and research units, including a lately completed QESS project that demonstrated the application of free and open source software in teaching and learning in the time of “new normal”.

Hope you will find this Newsletter useful, and I look forward to your contributions to our next issue!

With best wishes,
Prof. TANG Chiu Kay

Research Story

Project on the Preventive Protection against Coronavirus Spreading

(An Update on the Urban Renewal Authority Awarded Project on Sterilization of Coronavirus for Ventilation Pipe Outlet of Building Sewage System)

In order to achieve preventive protection against coronavirus in the ventilation pipe, the Urban Renewal Authority (URA), in August 2020, invited the industry to submit tender proposals to design, develop, construct and conduct testing and commissioning sterilization method(s) for ventilation pipe outlet of building sewerage system. The role of URA is to act as a supporter and provides financial subsidy to the successful applicant.

The nature of the project involves knowledge in virus deactivation, civil engineering, building services engineering and also many other related engineering disciplines as well as innovative technologies including Internet of Things technologies (IoT) – a specialized area in construction applications where our

Simulated pictures of the proposed sterilizers installed at URA's sites

College is currently developing and teaching. After the invitation from URA for tender, a series of brain storming meetings and deliberations have been conducted among interested academic staff members. A preliminary conceptual design using ultra-violet C band radiation for sterilization was conceived. Subsequently, a project team, as specified in the Request for Proposal, was formed to prepare for the submission materials. Team members comprises of:

- Mr. Ronald Lam (Associate Professor of the Department of Civil Engineering) – Project Director of the participation team. He is responsible for the preparation of the application materials and coordinate the project work. Ronald's specialties are in IoT technologies; electronics; mechanical and electrical design; and telecommunication.
- Professor Tang Chiu Kay (VP Academic, MBBS) – Project Associate who is responsible for contributing medical related knowledge to the team. Professor Tang is a medical practitioner who has vast interest in both science and Chinese literature.
- Ir Professor Louis Lam (Head of Department of Civil Engineering) - Project Associate who is responsible for contributing his civil engineering and building construction knowledge to the project. Building Aerodynamics is one of the specialty fields of Professor Lam.

Professor C.F. Lee, President of our College is the Advisor of the participation team.

(23 Nov 2020, Ta Kung Pao)

One of the key deliverables in this project is the production of prototypes for testing and commissioning at two URA's property sites. An innovative technology company, LR IOT Limited, was invited to strengthen the Team's capability in this area by forming a cooperation partnership to jointly bid for this project.

The partnership team was invited to present the proposal on 14 September to the URA selection panel. At the time of the presentation, the partnership team presented to the selection panel the innovative invention with a full size model which showed the conceptual design and how advanced Artificial Intelligence, Big Data and Internet of Things technologies could be applied to and integrated with the proposed device.

The Project Team successfully won the competition and was awarded the contract. The project was kicked-off on 19 October 2020 and would have to be completed in fourteen weeks (till 23 January 2021).

The success in winning the award, under the URA's rigorous selection criteria stipulated in the tendering document, demonstrated the research and development potential of our College.

At the time of submission of the manuscript of this article (at the end of the 9th week of the project), the first batch of prototypes had been produced and it is expected that on and off-site tests can be conducted by the 11th week.

Research News

Research Grants Council Workshop on Application Procedures

► The Research Grants Council (RGC) organised an online workshop on 5 November 2020 (Thursday) evening via Zoom for potential applicants to enhance their understanding on the three competitive research funding schemes for the self-financing degree (SF) sector. In the workshop, project coordinator and principal investigator of successful applications in the previous round of exercise shared their experience in proposal preparation. Prof. Helen MENG, the Chairman of the Assessment Panel, explained the assessment process and criteria. Prof. Joseph LEE, the Chairman of the RGC and the five Subject Convenors of the Assessment Panel also joined Prof MENG to answer questions from the participants. Interested colleagues of our College attended the workshop. Materials of the workshop will be made available on the RGC's website (<https://www.ugc.edu.hk/eng/rgc/index.html>) in due course.

Research Grants Council encourages shared use of facilities/equipment

► The RGC encourages researchers of the SF sector to achieve full utilization of the facilities/equipment funded by the RGC by sharing use of the facilities/equipment among fellow researchers in the sector. In the 2021/22 exercise (the Eighth Round) of application for Competitive Research Funding Schemes for the Local Self-financing Degree Sector, applicants are required to provide a utilization plan for each equipment costing HK$2.5 million or above. SF institutions can also share the information on facilities/equipment, particularly those costing HK$500,000 or above on the website of the "Research Collaboration Alliance of the Local Self-financing Degree Sector"¹.

Launch of the English Language and Culture Centre (ELCC)

► The English Language and Culture Centre (ELCC) was established in October 2020 with the support from Hong Kong Jockey Club Enhancement Works, as well as the Quality Enhancement Support Scheme (QESS) of the Education Bureau², with a view to:

- Improve the English proficiencies of our staff members and students;
- Coordinate activities for the promotion of English language and culture; and
- Work with all College faculties and units to enhance students' learning experience and practical skills.

Led by Prof. Thomas LUK (Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences), the project coordinator, supported by Academic Manager, Dr. Christopher AU-YEUNG and the teachers from Department of English, the ELCC provides a casual and friendly atmosphere to promote students' self-directed learning in English. It is open to both staff members and students of the College. For more information, visit the website (<https://elcc.chuhai.edu.hk/>) or get in touch with staff on duty at W104, West Wing of the campus!

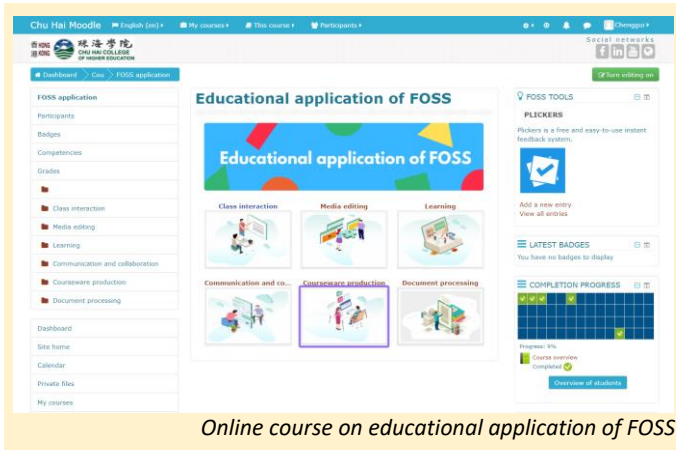

¹ Research Collaboration Alliance (RCA) of the Local Self-financing Degree Sector (<http://www.ouhk.edu.hk/URC/RCA/>), established in 2014, was formed with aims to promote and coordinate inter-institutional collaboration on research projects and research capacity building projects, and to coordinate liaison and negotiation with relevant funding bodies for research, such as the RGC. Chu Hai College of the Higher Education is among the current 15 member institutions of the local self-financing degree sector.

² The College was awarded the project "Setting Up English Language and Culture Centre" in 2020, funded by the Quality Enhancement Support Scheme (QESS) under the Self-financing Post-secondary Education Fund of the Education Bureau (project period: 01/09/2020 - 31/08/2022 (24 months)).

Chu Hai FOSS concludes QESS-funded Project

► The project team of QESS-funded project (FOSS)³, led by Dr. LEE Kwok Fong Tracy (Department of Journalism and Communication) and Mr. DUAN Chenggui (Centre of Buddhist Studies), have delivered an online conference, QESS Online Conference 2020 “Resources and Methods: Education Application of Free and Open Source Software during the Pandemic” in late November 2020, which marks a remarkable conclusion of the project (see p.5 for further details of the conference).

Supported by the QESS funding, Chu Hai FOSS launched an official website (珠多網, <https://foss.chuhai.edu.hk>) which aims at creating a user-friendly and powerful platform in English, Traditional Chinese and Simplified Chinese for our students, teachers and the general public, to discover and search for free and open source educational tools. These tools were diligently selected and categorized by functions including Media Editing, Classroom Interaction, Courseware Production, Collaborating, Learning, Education Resources, Document Processing, etc. A handbook has been published, and an e-version of the handbook is available on Chu Hai FOSS's website to provide handy guidelines to use these selected tools.

To promote the application of FOSS tools, the project team has developed an online course and organized a range of seminars, workshops and other related activities to enrich the knowledge and facilitate the usage among the members of the College since the start of the project in September 2018.

Funding Opportunities from External Funding Bodies

► The following external funding schemes are currently open for application. Please contact Mr. LEUNG Ka Yan of the Research Services Office (RSO) for details.

Funding Agency	Funding Scheme	Internal Deadline
University Grants Committee (UGC)	UGC Research Matching Grant Scheme (Research MGS) (7th round)	9 March 2021 (Tue)
Policy Innovation and Co-ordination Office (PICO)	Public Policy Research (PPR) Funding Scheme	All year round

Eligible colleagues are encouraged to submit proposals for the above schemes. All proposals should be submitted via the RSO to the Research Committee for review and endorsement before submitting to the respective funding agencies. The Research Committee and RSO assume the role of monitoring and assessing all funded projects. You are welcome to approach the RSO for further information or assistance in preparing the proposals.

³ The project, awarded in 2018, was funded by the Quality Enhancement Support Scheme (QESS) under the Self-financing Post-secondary Education Fund of the Education Bureau (project period: 01/09/2018 - 30/11/2020 (27 months)).

► Application for the following external funding schemes are closed. Please stay tuned for RSO's announcement for the next exercise in 2021.

QESS Conference: "Resources and Methods: Education Application of Free and Open Source Software during the Pandemic"

► COVID-19 has offered the higher education sector across the world both challenges and opportunities. The Conference, held online on 25 November 2020, organized by Chu Hai FOSS*, brought together educators at higher institutions and experts in online learning from Hong Kong, mainland China and overseas, to explore how the pandemic has given rise to new modes of teaching and learning, including application of FOSS.

The Chu Hai FOSS project team gave an overview on the project activities and demonstrated how "free and open source software" (FOSS) can be integrated into teaching and learning in an effective way with a sharing by teachers and students of Chu Hai College of Higher Education.

Invited speakers also shared topics on "The future of higher education after the pandemic", "How COVID-19 changes the world's perception of online learning during 2020", "Ways to leverage OER, OEP and FOSS for education effectiveness" and "More than just a score: Feedback practices online and offline". Conference Aim
COVID-19 has offered the higher education sector across the world both challenges and opportunities. In light of the unprecedented changes we are facing, this conference, bringing together educators at higher institutions in the United Kingdom, Hong Kong, and mainland China, endeavors to explore how the pandemic has given rise to new modes of teaching and learning and how FOSS can be integrated into teaching and learning in an effective way. It provides an opportunity for researchers and educators to share insights, solutions, methods and new ideas on a variety of pedagogical issues.

Time Schedule (25 November 2020, Wednesday)

10:00 – 10:05 am	Opening Prof. Yu Siu-Hung Edan Executive Dean, Chu Hai College of Higher Education
10:05 – 10:10 am	Welcome speech Prof. Tang Chiu Kay Vice-President (Academic), Chu Hai College of Higher Education
10:10 – 10:30 am	Speaker 1: QESS Project Team (Project title: Enhancing teaching and learning by effective utilization of free and open source software) Chu Hai College of Higher Education "Introduction and project overview"
10:30 – 10:50 am	Speaker 2: Prof. Alan Jiaoli Professor and Director, Future Education Research Center, South China Normal University "The future of higher education after the pandemic"
10:50 – 11:10 am	Speaker 3: Mr. Stuart Meador Managing Director, Human Resource Development, Nike Global "How COVID-19 changed the world's perception of online learning during 2020"
11:10 – 11:30 am	Speaker 4: Dr. Li Kam Cheong Director of Research Office, The Open University of Hong Kong "Ways to leverage OER, OEP and FOSS for educational effectiveness"
11:30 – 11:50 am	Speaker 5: Dr. Holly Chung Associate Director, Teaching and Learning Enhancement Section, Centre for Teaching and Learning, Hong Kong Baptist University "More than just a score: Feedback practices online and offline"
11:50 – 12:10 pm	Speaker 6: QESS Project Team Chu Hai College of Higher Education "Teachers and students sharing"

* This conference is fully supported by Quality Enhancement Support Scheme (QESS) from the Education Bureau (EDB) (Project Ref. No. 20/QESS/2020)

Any opinions, findings, conclusions or recommendations expressed in this material (written for by members of the project team) do not reflect the views of the Government of the HKSAR, the Education Bureau, the self-financing tertiary education fund board or any member in the sub-committee of the Quality Enhancement Support Scheme.

Programme rundown of the Conference

* Chu Hai FOSS was established with a funding under Quality Enhancement Support Scheme (QESS) from the Education Bureau (EDB) (01/QESS/2018). The conference was fully supported by this project.

International Conference: “Recent Advances in International Trade, Finance, Business and Regional Cooperations”

► Chu Hai College of Higher Education hosted the third conference on the “Recent Advances in International Trade, Finance, Business and Regional Cooperations” on 30 November 2020. The event was co-organized by Research Center for International Business and Trade of Chu Hai College of Higher Education*, Hong Kong Society of Asia Pacific 21, Henan University School of Economics in Kaifeng, China, and Asia Development Bank Institute in Tokyo, and also in collaboration with over 9 overseas institutions and universities.

Nearly 40 established and rising scholars and academics were present at this conference. The invaluable online presentations and Q&A provided an insight into the new economic behaviour and structural change in the recent development of international trade, finance, business and regional cooperations.

Another key theme of the conference was the promotion and coordination on the development of the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area. There were numerous policy initiatives in fostering the urbanization of prime industries, including high-tech and tourism in the Bay Area. This is a hot topic in light of the recent HK Government’s plan to further integrate the Greater Bay Area into a regional economic powerhouse. Thus, the Conference would help serve as a useful point of reference in the implementation of the proposed policy scheme.

There were two keynote speakers, Kenneth CHAN, Visiting Research Professor from Canada, and Sugata MARJIT, First Distinguished Professor of the Indian Institute of Foreign Trade. They both shared fascinating perspectives on virtual trade and savings behaviour in China.

* The Center is fully supported by a grant from RGC (UGC/IDS13/16). This Conference was funded by the RGC grant, the Asia Development Bank Institute in Tokyo and Hong Kong Society of Asia-Pacific 21.

Research Units

In order to foster scholarly development in defined focus areas and facilitate research extending from individual research strengths to discipline-based or inter-/multi-disciplinary collaborations across Faculties/Departments, the College encourages the establishment of research teams and registered research units to enable groups of active/experienced/emerging researchers to conduct quality research with focus and sustainability.

The following seven disciplined-specific or interdisciplinary research units have developed certain research strengths and focus areas over the years through research seminars, research projects, conferences, publications, and collaborations with researchers within and outside the College.

Research Support

► Research Committee

The Research Committee under the Academic Board is responsible for:

- setting the overall direction, positioning and strategy for the College's research and scholarly activities;
- establishing appropriate policies and procedures to support research;
- coordinating efforts in bidding for competitive external research grants;
- vetting and advising on research proposals;
- overseeing and monitoring the performance of research centres;
- promoting collaboration with external organizations/institutions/industries on research; and
- promoting a research culture within the College.

Membership:

Chair:	Prof. TANG Chiu Kay, Vice President (Academic)
Members:	Dr. CHAN Wing Lam, Wendy, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences Dr. YAU Chi On, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences Prof. ZHANG Junxi Jack, Faculty of Business Dr. LAI Kam Wah, Faculty of Business Prof. LAM Chi Hung, Louis, Faculty of Science and Engineering Dr. Ruffina THILAKARATNE, Faculty of Science and Engineering
Secretary:	Ms. NG Wai Yu Pekoe, Research Services Office

► Research Safety/Ethics Sub-Committee

The College-wide Research Ethics/Safety Sub-Committee (RESS) under the Research Committee is responsible for advising on the ethics/safety standards, approving ethics/safety applications for research, and overseeing the compliance of the approved research with the relevant standards and procedures.

Membership:

Chair:	Prof. LUK Yun Tong, Thomas, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences
Members:	Deans of Faculties or their representatives

Staff members can access the Policy on Research Governance, Ethics and Safety on Chu Hai Intranet. The policy document specifies the College's research governance and the essential standards on research conduct which all members of the College must observe in order to ethically and safely undertake research.

► Research Services Office

Research Services Office (RSO, formerly Research Office) was set up in 2016 to help improve research administration. In addition to the day-to-day support and monitoring of project administration and research budget management, RSO provides administrative support to the Research Committee, especially in relation to establishing the research infrastructure, developing policies and procedures to support research, coordination of research grant applications, dissemination of grant application information, seeking external peer review, internal and external vetting of research proposals, and maintaining a database for research information, etc.

Currently, RSO administrates the following internal funds and grants which provide financial support to research and scholarly activities:

1. Seed Fund for Research – encourages individual full-time academic staff who can come up with a detailed research plan for a fresh research idea to better prepare their research proposals for external grants.
2. Conference Grant – encourages individual full-time academic staff to participate in international conferences (or symposia) for the purpose of paper presentation, in order to disseminate research findings and facilitate research collaboration.
3. Research Publication Fund – subsidizes individual full-time academic staff on submissions fee or editing / language polishing of journal papers.
4. Scholarly Activity Fund - encourages the organization of seminars, workshops, public lectures and other scholarly activities with a research component for the purpose of sharing research ideas, promoting research collaboration and disseminating research findings.

Staff members can access the guidelines and forms for internal funding support on Chu Hai Intranet, or contact Research Services Office (Email: research@chuhai.edu.hk) or the Research Coordinators for further details:
